Angela is an Italian Creative Consultant. She has been living in Hong Kong for the past 7yrs and just recently relocated back to Europe.

Angela has been part of the Creative Team at Pedder Group, the Asia's premier Fashion retail and brand management partner of The Lane Crawford Joyce Group.

Angela's work has been featured on Trendland.com, the online magazine that since 2006 has redefined digital and global trends.

On That Monday is her Curation and Production House where she combines in-house skills - design, branding, editorial, research and production management - with a team of external media professionals to support brands in setting and developing their own visual and communication strategies, especially on the digital side of the business.

Breathrough is her brand new project, a mix of breathing practices for emotional, physical and mental health that she has learnt on her travels and she is now sharing online and onsite through social media and live events.
